AMERICAN THEATRE INTERVIEWS PLAYWRIGHT: MOLLY SMITH METZLER

When I first heard the title Cry it Out, perhaps because I'm not a mom yet, I wasn't thinking of it in the way the phrase is used in the play. Can you talk about how you chose your title?

I was almost done with the play, and I still didn't have a title. I was super-stressed out about it, because I had only bad ideas, like Two Coffees in a Yard, or Over Coffee. Just horrible. Then I remembered that the two main characters briefly talk about the "cry it out" sleep method — a disputed, controversial method of "teaching" your baby to sleep through the night by leaving them to scream their lungs out. It's aggressive, and it's not unlike what new parents go through: It's terrifying and you can cry out for help all you want, but no one is coming to your side with answers. You have to figure it out on your own. So I liked this idea for a title.

The word "cry" is in the title. Do you feel like people carry a bias against that word itself, coming from a woman writer?

I think the title leads people to expect something soft, with lots of tears and breast milk. Which is not completely inaccurate—there's plenty of breast milk. But what's surprising is who is doing the most crying: the male character. He's the one "crying out" most loudly. It's an important texture of the story. To me this play is about the challenges facing new parents. It's about how unfair the socioeconomics of child care are in this country. It troubles me when the play is marketed as a "chick play." That's only 50 percent of who should be in the house. And it's contrary to the play's point: that parenthood isn't a women's issue.

When I look at your character descriptions, you explain the layered history of what these characters represent socioeconomically. Why is class so important in this story?

New parenthood is the perfect lens through which to examine socioeconomics. People talk about going back to work after you have a child like it's always a choice. Or they make it a feminist issue, making new mothers feel like they're stuck in the 1950s if they want to stay home, or they're cold-hearted careerists if they don't want to stay home. We make it black and white, and we're so judgmental. But it's a very complicated, personal, emotional, and financial thing.

Is there some place where motherhood and parenting defies socioeconomics?

The equalizer is friendship. That's what was wonderful about my maternity leave in Port Washington. I can't think of another time in life when you get to make new friends as an adult. You're home with a baby, you need to socialize the baby, and you need company to survive. So for the first time in decades, you're out at the library or coffee shops trying to make a new friend. I remember baking elaborate banana breads and trying to lure potential friends back to my crappy duplex.

Finally I met the world's nicest new mom, and she saved my life by introducing me to the new parents in the community. We were from all walks of life, from Sands Points to food stamps. We had nothing in common except one huge thing: We all had little newborns.

THE LIVING LEGACY SOCIETY

Merrimack Repertory Theatre's Living Legacy Society was established to provide a lasting legacy for donors who believe in the mission of MRT.

The Living Legacy Society helps you combine financial goals with charitable giving. When you support MRT with a planned gift to the Living Legacy Society, you can:

- Secure steady payments throughout your lifetime and increase available income
- Ensure support of a loved one after your lifetime
- Reduce income, estate, and capital gains taxes
- Build lasting support for the greater Merrimack Valley's only professional theatre

Living Legacy Society gifts may be made through a bequest, a gift of appreciated securities or assets, beneficiary designation of retirement plans or life insurance, a charitable remainder trust, or a gift of property.

Your support will ensure that MRT continues its vital role in arts, education, and community building for years to come.

If you have already made MRT part of your estate plans, we invite you to join the Living Legacy Society. Thank you.

For more information, please contact:

Bonnie J. Butkas, Executive Director at 978-654-7558 or bonnie.butkas@mrt.org.

MRT.ORG/DONATE

Ticket sales and subscriptions only cover 60% of our production expenses. Support from people like you make up the rest. Your gift is critical to our success and makes it possible for MRT to produce award-winning productions for Lowell and the Greater Merrimack Valley. Your support underwrites lighting, costumes, artist salaries, free and discounted tickets for students, community outreach efforts, and free discussions and tours.

Please consider a tax-deductible donation to Merrimack Repertory Theatre today. Simply go to our secure website at mrt.org/donate or call 978-654-7579.

SPOTLIGHT: SEE CAMBODIAN ROCK BAND NOW

Our co-production with City Theatre in Pittsburg and Victory Gardens Theatre in Chicago started performances in April. Visit www.victorygardens.org to see the photos and video.

PLAYWRIGHT LAUREN YEE WINS NATIONAL AWARD

Cambodian Rock Band playwright Lauren Yee won the national Harold and Mimi Steinberg/American Theatre Critics Association New Play Award. The Steinberg Committee said, "The notion of exploring the Cambodian holocaust through contemporary investigation, past survivor memories, and rock and roll is absolutely inspired, and to execute it with such unexpected humor and supple time shifts is a real accomplishment." MRT will present the East Coast premiere in October.

ACTOR KAREN MACDONALD EARNS FOX FELLOWSHIP

Karen Macdonald

Actor Karen MacDonald, in partnership with MRT, has been named a recipient of the Fox Foundation Resident Actor Fellowship, according to the Foundation and Theatre Communications Group, the national organization for theatre. MacDonald, whose MRT credits include Home of the Brave, Who's Afraid of Virginia Woolf?, and A Moon for the Misbegotten, will work closely with MRT and members of the Lowell community in order to develop a new piece of work telling the history of Lowell's Mill Girls.

YOUNG COMPANY REGISTRATION OPEN FOR TEENS

Registration is now open for the MRT Young Company summer program, a professional theatre training program for high school students, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. for three weeks, July 15 to August 2, in downtown Lowell. The all-inclusive rate for the full program is $625. To register, visit www.mrt.org/youngcompany or call the Box Office at 978-654-4678.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

If you have any problems during a performance, please ask one of our volunteer ushers to locate the House Manager.

ACCESSIBILITY

Open Captioning

Thanks in part to a grant and guidance from Theatre Development Fund (TDF), we will offer an open captioning performance during a Sunday matinee for all shows. Open captioning uses a text screen on the side of the stage to display simultaneous transcription of dialogue and lyrics during a live performance. When booking your seats, mention your interest in open captioning in order to secure the most advantageous view. Visit www.mrt.org for dates.

Listening Devices

Please reserve our free listening devices through the box office when you make your reservation.

Wheelchair Seating

Wheelchair space is available by notifying the Box Office when purchasing tickets. A ramp is located to the left of MRT's main entrance.

RESTROOMS/LATECOMER POLICIES

Restrooms are located in Lowell Memorial Auditorium (LMA). Follow the signs down the hallway on the left side of the theatre. Please do not go past any barriers in the LMA hallways or an alarm will sound. If at any time you leave your seat during the performance, the House Manager will seat you in the rear balcony when you return.

No one will be admitted once the performance begins. The House Manager will seat you in the rear balcony until intermission, at which time you may take your ticketed seat.

EMERGENCY CALLS

If you expect an emergency call during a performance, please leave your name and seat location with the House Manager. MRT's emergency phone number is 978-654-4678, press 9.

FIRE REGULATION

Please take a moment to locate the nearest emergency exit. If the fire alarm sounds, please remain in your seat until the House Manager directs you to the nearest exit. Do not run. Exit the theatre in a calm and orderly manner.

BAD WEATHER POLICY

MRT does not cancel performances due to bad weather except in the event of highway closure by the State Police. If you are concerned about driving in poor weather, contact the Enterprise Bank Box Office.

COURTESY/CONCESSIONS

Please silence your cell phones, beeping watches and electronic devices when entering the theatre. Please do not text during the performance.

Refreshments are available before performances and during intermission. Food is not allowed in the theatre. Intermission beverages may be pre-purchased at the concession stand. If you bring a beverage into the theatre, please carry out the trash when you leave. Please refrain from unwrapping cellophane wrappers during the performance. For the comfort of all patrons, please avoid wearing strong perfumes, colognes, and hairsprays.

RECORDING/PHOTOGRAPH REGULATIONS

The use of any recording device, either audio or video, and the taking of photographs, either with or without flash, is strictly prohibited during the performance. EXCEPTION: You may take photos of the set before the show. If you post photos on social media, please acknowledge the designers.
